FOREST SCHOOL CHAMBER ORCHESTRA

FOREST SCHOOL CHAMBER ORCHESTRA

Forest School is London's only diamond structure school and is one of the very few in the country. This means that our 1300 boys and girls are taught separately at key stages of their education.

Surrounded by ancient forest, the School is located on the edge of Epping Forest in north east London.

The School Chamber Orchestra is an ensemble providing an opportunity for the most advanced string players from the Senior School to work together. The youngest member at present is 12 years old, and all year groups are represented in the orchestra. Wind players are added to enable us to perform Classical Symphonic and Concertos.

This year we say goodbye to ten of our senior members who will be continuing their studies at University or Music College. They have been loyal players and have provided tremendous inspiration for the younger students. We will miss them, as some have been performing in the group for over seven years.

For further information, call the Music School Office on 020 8509 4988 or email the Music School at music@forest.org.uk
